Nasr City is one of the relatively modern neighborhoods of Cairo. It was established as an extension of the Heliopolis neighborhood. Nasr City is divided into two neighborhoods, the “East neighborhood” and the “West neighborhood” of Nasr City, and then into several smaller sheiks due to their large area.

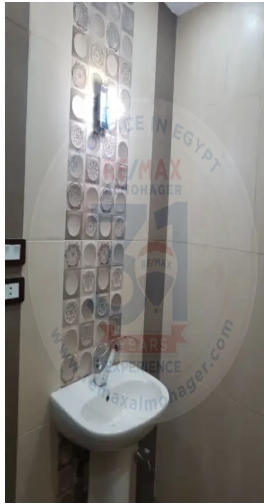

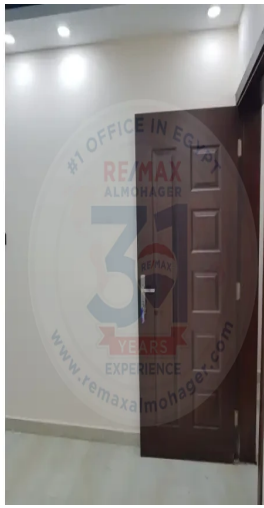

Nasr City is the largest district in Cairo in terms of area

It is located near Abbas Al-Akkad Street: it has many shops and restaurants, as it is a first-class shopping street, and it includes the Workers' University, the International Garden, several banks, exchange companies, and the stock exchange.
